Addressing Social Determinants of Health (SDOH) positively affects both the patient and the health care system by improving patient outcomes and reducing unnecessary expenditures such as hospital readmission, length of stay, and use of post-acute care. Addressing SDOH is also a primary approach to achieving health equity. The ICD-10-CM codes included in categories Z55-Z65 and Z75 (“Z codes”) identify non-medical factors that may influence a patient’s health status, such as the patient’s socioeconomic situation, including education and literacy, employment, housing, lack of adequate food or water, or occupational exposure to risk factors like dust, radiation, or toxic agents.

Learning Objectives

- Recognize the factors impacting SDOH and how to capture information for coding and reporting.
- Improve understanding of how assessing and addressing SDOH is critical to improving the patient’s health.
- Gain knowledge about how to correctly report the key conditions affecting the patients and their social needs.
